

What is the IPinfo Academic Use Program?

The IPinfo Academic Use Program allows students, faculty, and researchers to enjoy access to IPinfo's IP geolocation and intelligence data to support academic research.

What are the criteria for qualification for this program?

The applicant must be affiliated with an accredited academic institution, including universities, colleges, research institutes, and non-profit organizations recognized by a nationally or internationally recognized body.

Your project must align with our program's goals:

- Academic Research: Explore new areas, address complex questions, and contribute to scholarly knowledge in relevant fields like cybersecurity, internet infrastructure, and technological trends
- Educational Initiatives: Develop innovative teaching materials, enhance student learning experiences, and foster critical thinking skills through data-driven analysis
- Non-Commercial Projects: Conduct non-commercial research or develop tools with clear academic or public benefit, adhering to ethical data usage guidelines

Furthermore, you must demonstrate a commitment to using our data responsibly and comply with all applicable laws, regulations, and ethical guidelines governing data usage.

How do I apply?

Contact our sales team to begin the application process.

What data is available in the IPinfo Academic Use Program?

Any of our industry-leading IP data sets can be used in this program. Please be sure to indicate specific data requirements in your request (see above).

What are the terms and limitations of using this data?

The full IPinfo Academic Use Agreement can be found here. Below are the key points:

- Grant of Use: IPinfo grants students enrolled in accredited academic institutions ("Students") a non-exclusive, non-sublicensable, non-transferable right to access and use

IPinfo data for research and publication purposes only through the designated API and web portal. This access is subject to the terms and limitations set forth herein.

- Data Attribution: Students must prominently attribute the use of IPinfo data in their research and publications, including the following:
 - Source: Cite IPinfo as the source of the data, including the website address (<https://ipinfo.io>).
 - Version: Specify the version of the IPinfo data used.
 - Date Accessed: Indicate the date the data was accessed.
- Limitations: (Personal Information) Students are strictly prohibited from using the data to identify or contact individuals.
- Commercial Use: Students are prohibited from using the data for any commercial purposes.
- Data Sharing: Students are prohibited from sharing the data with third parties without prior written consent from IPinfo.
- Accuracy and Reliability: While IPinfo strives to ensure the accuracy and reliability of the data, Students acknowledge that the data may be incomplete or inaccurate. IPinfo disclaims any warranties or representations regarding the data's accuracy, completeness, or reliability.
- Compliance with Law: Students are responsible for ensuring their use of the data complies with all applicable laws and regulations.
- Termination: IPinfo reserves the right to terminate access to the data and/or this agreement for any violation of these terms.

How long will I have access to the data?

Your access will last for one year. Extensions can be requested, and are subject to review and approval at the discretion of IPinfo.

Will I receive support?

Yes, for the duration of your access to the data, you will receive support as if you were a paid subscriber to IPinfo.

What if I have a question that is not answered here?

Our support team is happy to answer any questions you may have about this program.